Autonomy is just a tool to carve and preserve our identity, and the relevant question is not: “How do you want to exercise your autonomy”, but: “How do you define yourself”.

I bequeath my House and Lands to my eldest Son Dick – the rest of my property to my Wife and younger Children – I leave Six and eightpence to the Lawyer – all his gallipots and phials to the Doctor and half a years tithes to the Parson – Therefore March off Doctor! – write Lawyer! – pray parson cry Wife! – and bellow Children! – for it is all over with me!

A FARMER'S PHILOSOPHY IN DEATH

Autonomy

"Professional autonomy is often described as a claim of professionals that has to serve primarily their own interests...this professional autonomy can only be maintained if members of the profession subject their activities and decisions to a critical evaluation by other members of the profession."

Hoogland, Jan; Jochemsen, Henk (2000). "Professional autonomy and the normative structure of medical practice". Theoretical Medicine and Bioethics. 21 (5): 457–75.
